No War Against Russia!

Under the smokescreen of global Corona dictatorship the military noose around Russia's neck is tightening more and more, the US attack preparations are gradually completed. You will find the details a thousand times more serious and better documented than in the streamlined press with its non-stop agitation and soul massage under:

We cannot and do not want to relieve you from this very little search work, but if you should get radioactively contaminated by the highly justified Russian resistance against willing aggressors, you will at least not die as a gullible victim of unisono lies and suggestions. (Something that also happened during the first two world wars already millions of times; the fake-news-press did exist at that time already, but outside the Third Reich not yet with a complete monopoly.)

One thing distinguishes the impending 3rd (and last) World War from the 1st and the 2nd World War in quite a weird way: Everybody knows it is impending, but everybody evades the topic. As for the two first world wars, the situation was different: they were generally discussed everywhere and on both sides, often in an excited way, but never the topic was evaded. For, according to the state of technology of the time, war made mass mobilization necessary. Now everybody keeps silent obediently, well knowing that the rulers of the Western Bloc do not like the topic being discussed, and waits whether the nuclear warheads will be fired, or will in the end even be fired back, justifiedly but to his annoyance. Therefore he ducks his head, stops thinking and knuckles down, but rather insidiously than anxiously.

The pretext for the attack on Russia is the fact that the Russian half of the Ukraine arbitrarily expanded by Krushchev, i.e. the Orthodox part, does not want to be slaughtered and forcibly assimilated by the other half loyal to the Pope. How this works could be observed after the Maidan coup in the western half of the Ukraine, as much as our unisono press of course concealed or played down the huge massacres that immediately began there. It is only natural that the Orthodox or, according to the dialect, Russian part does not want to put up with this without defence and is therefore striving for pre-Krushchev conditions, but according to the fake-news-press this is supposed to be something very wicked.

Allegedly, there are two separate nations in Ukraine, just as in Czechoslovakia, which was also divided over the issue; in reality Russian and "Ukranian" differ less than standard German and "Swiss German" or "Low German", and the same is true of Czech and "Slovakian". Actually, there are two different religious denominations; in the one case the Czechs, initially Protestant, quite enlightened despite forced Catholicisation under Habsburgs' reign and industrialised at an early stage, and the Slovaks who remained arch-Catholic during long and dull centuries in serfdom and whose spiritual leader Tiso, a vassal head of state of the Third Reich, Hitler expressly recommended to his SS as a model for the speedy "final solution of the Jewish question" (and quite rightly so in his sense). Analogously, the western part of Ukraine is hostile towards its Russian Orthodox minority and even more so to its eastern neighbours, since it was successfully forcibly catholicised (more precisely turned into a Catholic-Orthodox ["Unitarian"] but Pope-loyal hermaphrodite) a few centuries ago by the Polish army, which had taken advantage of Russia's weakness after the death of Ivan the Terrible. The result was, among other things, the opera "Boris Godunov", read the libretto.

In more enlightened times, religious differences – which nevertheless remained highly effective in predominantly agricultural corners of the world – began to be hidden behind "national" distinctions, and to this end even the most meagre differences in dialect were grasped. (We were all able to observe this very concretely a short time ago with the break-up of Yugoslavia by NATO; even the "Serbo-Croatian language" is officially no longer allowed to exist there.) But: When shortly after the destruction of the Eastern Bloc Slovakia seceded from the Czech side, no rooster in the media crowed about it, no one cried out for subjugation or extermination of the part wishing to secede. Why should this be at all costs different with Ukraine whose eastern part, so recently artificially sewn to the western part (it had been a stupid idea to loosen up the compactness of a dullely Catholic peasantry, most strongly and aggressively inclined to Hitler during the Second World War, by means of an advanced industrial district that was Russian to the bones), has even better reasons to break away from the pro-Papalist half?! What was that again about the "right of self-determination of peoples", which otherwise, when it can harm Russia or China, is crowed out by the same media all the time? (Uighurs, Chechens, Balts...) Is there anything more decent than the correctly held referendums of e.g. Upper Silesia after World War I, Ödenburg/Sopron on the same occasion, the Saarland or, actually, the Crimea? Why should referendums on national affiliation be the noblest human right in one case and the most forbidden work of the devil in the other? What a disgraceful and disgusting propaganda... Instead, the rule must be: Africa to the Africans, Russia to the Russians! Even if that does'nt suit Mr. Gates, Rockefeller and Soros, who want it for themselves – just like the Second World War broke out exactly because German as well as British big business wanted Russia (Poland was intended by both sides as a deployment area), and therefore "appeasement" was over, since both robbers were jealous of each other's booty.

Should we, although it would serve the cowardly majority right, let ourselves be contaminated radioactively for the advantage of this insatiable gang? And, even irrespective of this more selfish thought, is it not a gigantic obscenity to aid and abet this vile goal of insatiable US greed mongers, who are just now following in Hitler's footsteps eastwards?

RUSSIA TO THE RUSSIANS, NOT TO THE SOROS/ROCKEFELLER-GANG!

NEITHER NUCLEAR GENOCIDE NOR ENSLAVEMENT BY THE STRONGER ARMY!

And think about who had the benefit from the Corona dictatorship, which so facilitates for instance electoral fraud and thus wars of aggression...
